ALL THE HOME NEWS

Little minds are too much wounded by little things; great minds see all and are not hurt.—Rochefort.

A birth in the royal family of Spain is expected the latter part of May. Queen Victoria is now the mother of three children, the youngest having been born June 22 last.

The business men of Belfast about eight years ago entered into an agreement with Leonard & Barrows to pay them $1,000 a year for ten years if they pay roll of their shoe factory in this city amounted to $100,000 a year. We learn that last year the pay roll aggregated $134,119.62, with assurance that if present conditions continue, the total for 1910 will exceed that sum. The committee of Belfast business men who induced Leonard & Barrows to locate here certainly did a good thing for our city, and we trust also for the firm, which found here an exceptionally good class of help.—Belfast Journal.

A pet cat owned by C. W. Chick of Norway was run over by the electric cars some weeks ago. She ran under a building after the accident and was not found for several days. She seemed badly hurt and so they had her chloroformed and buried. Mrs. Chick's father saw the cat coming up the path soon after and let her into the house, and when the family came home, they found the cat under the kitchen stove, purring away as if nothing had happened. She was carried into the furnace cellar where she lay until she died, and is doing nicely. If no other accident happens to her she will probably live until she dies a natural death. This same cat was locked into the Congregational church for ten days last summer for ten days without food or water. In about an hour after she was brought home she had a family of kittens.

Mr. Farwell is a Northerner by birth, but no Southerner can outdo him in hospitality. Mr. Smalley as a Rockland man and Dr. Shorkey as a 32nd degree Mason appealed strongly to his fellowship and as his guests they saw many interesting sights of the Southern metropolis to which a stranger could not have gained entrance. Mr. Farwell has two pronounced hobbies. One is his love for Masonry in which he has taken 32 degrees; the other is his fondness for motor boats. He has one boat equipped with an engine of 120 h. p. which can easily make 28 miles an hour. His den is filled with interesting souvenirs which this boat has won for him through the South.

The visitors found the city wide open Sunday, baseball, horse-trotting and theatres being as commonplace there on the Sabbath as church services are here in the North. When they left arrangements were being made for the famous Mardi-Gras festival. Messrs. Smalley and Shorkey made the trip back over the Queen and Crescent route, and returned to New York on the steamer Comus.

An interesting incident occurred on the way down. Going through Tennessee Mr. Smalley arose early to get a view of the scenery. His only companion was a stranger who was performing his obligations with a view to leaving the train at a nearby station. As fellow travelers usually do, they dropped into conversation.

"Going far?" asked the stranger.

"New Orleans," replied Mr. Smalley.

"Where are you from?"

"Maine."

"That sort!" and the stranger's interest increased. "What part of Maine?"

"Rockland."

"You don't say! Why I've got a cottage near there; we call it Rockmont." And he handed Mr. Smalley a card on which the latter read: "F. O. Havener, Parkersburg, West Virginia."

BACK FROM NEW ORLEANS.

Rockland Lawyer and Camden Doctor Saw Southern Metropolis Under Interesting Conditions—Strange Meeting In Tennessee.

Charles T. Smalley has returned from New Orleans whither he accompanied Dr. George Shorkey of Camden on professional business. They made their stay at the Grunewald, one of the finest hotels in the South, 14 stories high, and containing 600 rooms. There they had the pleasure of meeting a Rockland boy, Emmet Healey, who went to the Grunewald only a few months ago as front clerk and is now head cashier. At the close of the winter season Mr. Healey comes North to take a fine position in a New York hotel.

MAINE PRESS ASSOCIATION.

Annual Meeting In Portland—Officers for Ensuing Year—Other Proceedings.

The annual meeting of the Maine Press Association was held in Portland last week. The Press gave the following report of the meetings:

Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the State of Maine room at the Fal-mouth hotel was held the first session in connection with the 47th annual meeting of the Maine Press Association. Arnold H. Jones, a former mayor of Rockland, presided, and among the more prominent members in attendance at the opening session were former Mayor E. F. Hanson of Belfast and Gen. Jonathan P. Cilley of Rockland.

It was voted almost unanimously to arrange a trip to Quebec this summer. Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Arthur E. Forbes, South Paris; vice presidents, Thomas D. Sale of Portland, Louis O. Haskell of Pittsfield and Charles E. Kendrick of Boothbay Harbor; sec. Joseph Wood, Portland; treas. Frederick H. Averill, Sanford; executive committee, Frank E. Nichols of Bath, Louis A. Hind of Portland and Edgar F. Hanson of Belfast.

Charles E. Kendrick of Boothbay Harbor was selected as the essayist for the next annual meeting and Jesse H. Ogier of Camden was selected as his alternate. W. O. Fuller of Rockland was chosen as poet for next year and Frank H. Colley of Old Orchard was selected as his alternate.

It was voted that the secretary extend the felicitations of the association by telegraph to Hiram R. Morrell of Gardner, the only charter member who was unable to be present.

Among the visitors at a recent rehearsal of the New York Tubenstein Club, at the Waldorf-Astoria, were Mr. and Mrs. James Wright of this city. Mr. Chapman, the director, presented them to the club, with some remarks upon their musical abilities. This resulted in the club insisting upon "Uncle Jimmy" singing a song, which he was prevailed upon to do, and with Mrs. Wright at the piano he rendered in dashing style that well-known classic "The Pretty Little Yankee Girl," with such success that a recall was given him. We believe Mr. and Mrs. Wright the first Rockland musicians to be honored by an appearance at the Waldorf Astoria.

TENANT'S HARBOR DAYS

Of "The Creek" and Some of the Doings That Took Place Thereupon.

LV.

While at the harbor last summer I strolled down the schoolhouse lane to the shore. I could not but notice the neat and trim appearance of the Capt. John Long place, and what an excellent view of the harbor and ocean it commands. My mind reverted to the days of my boyhood when I used to go there for milk, and I could almost see, as I did in days of yore, Capt. John, Aunt Sallie, Zaida, Abbie, Lizzie, Johnny ("All I want is my axe!") Lena and Austin. Only two of the eight are now living. "Behold what havoc the swift time makes among the human race!"

Poor Johnny—what fun we used to have up at Sheerer's, especially the time he lost his axe. He thought a lot of that axe. Did you hide it, Frank? Johnny and Austin were bedfellows. One night Johnny was in bed asleep when Austin retired. Johnny was dreaming that the cat was trying to get into bed, so he drew off and hid Austin one in the jaw that sent him half way across the room—and then he woke up but he had nearly put Austin to sleep!

Do you remember Billy Barlow, the old horse that Capt. Long used to own? If you pointed your finger at him and said, "Billy Barlow, I'm ragged, I know, but still I'm the old covey called Billy Barlow," he would make for you, no matter what he was hitched to—plow, dump cart or hay-rack. He chased one boy over the stone-wall one day and only the old covey called Billy Barlow got locked against the posts I guess he would have gotten him.

The lane was the direct route for the boys going to the "big rocks" for oysters, daily swim, or to go clamming at the head of the harbor. We used to have some good times down there. I rowed up the creek one recent day while at Mr. Barlow's. Look about the creek, only I didn't see Aunt Elmira or Jim as we went by the Rawley ledge. Who would ever think that good-sized vessels were built on the banks of that creek and successfully navigated out of it? I have navigated ice-cakes out of the creek very successfully in times gone by, and that's no Dr. Cook story either. My wife is inclined to josh me about it. "When I tell of something that happened at the harbor she always says, 'Did that happen at the creek?'" But a lot of things did happen at that creek, though. The gang built a boat there one time with lumber, etc., that we had "borrowed" at various places, but she refused to float, so there was one craft that was not successfully navigated out of the creek.

"Come on, fellows, let's go down to the creek and sail on the ice-cakes." Boze.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

There is always something doing on Littlehale avenue, as Park street is sometimes called out of deference to the man who has done so much toward building it up. His latest in the way of improvements is an addition to the northern end of the grain mill, 12x30, which will be used for an office. It is finished in hard pine and has a hardwood floor. The old office will be converted into extra mill room. Mr. Littlehale established his grain business about 15 years ago since which time he has erected four new buildings: A stable accommodating six horses, a storage building for flour and hay, a building which is occupied by Armour & Co. and Littlehale and a building which is occupied jointly by Thorndike & Hix, Fred W. Wight and Littlehale.

The many Rockland friends of Rev. Robert Sutcliffe, former pastor of Pratt Memorial M. E. church, will be pleased to learn that he has just received a voluntary increase of salary as pastor of the Cottage Grove Methodist church in Oregon. The Cottage Grove Leader thus tells of it: "At the official board meeting of the Methodist church, last week the pastor was happily surprised by the announcement by F. B. Phillips, that the pastor's salary had been voluntarily increased $150, making his pay $1250, which, with parsonage rental, gives the Rev. Robert Sutcliffe $1500 per annum. The members present confirmed and endorsed the action of the committee. This is certainly a substantial compliment which is duly appreciated by Rev. Sutcliffe, who by his able, vigorous and eloquent addresses has been accorded very large congregations and has already greatly increased the membership of the church and its auxiliary societies. The church under his leadership is a live and progressive one, and bids fair to experience one of the greatest and most successful years since its organization."

The following from the New Orleans Item of Jan. 21 has much interest for the readers of our social column: "Mrs. Pearl Wight was hostess Thursday afternoon of a large luncheon in honor of her sister, Mrs. Charles Owen Emery, of Rockland, Me. The affair was one of the handsomest afternoon functions recently given, and was delightful among the season's events. Mrs. Emery, who will be here for some weeks from her extreme Northern home, is charmed with New Orleans, its green gardens, waving palms and other features typical of this part of the world. The rooms of Mrs. Wight's beautiful home were bright with flowers and palms, and in the dining-room the table was exquisitely arranged with one of the hostess' famous Bohemian cut glass sets and other rich appointments, the flowers being Killarney roses and the new variety of pale tinted and fragile ivy now being used. Invited to meet Mrs. Emery were Mrs. Victor Thrane, Mrs. H. B. Glover, of Dubuque, Iowa; Mrs. Thomas Smith, Mrs. Oscar L. Putnam, Mrs. William T. Jones and her guest, Mrs. William T. McGinnis, of Evansville, Ind.; Mrs. William Perry Brown, Mrs. C. W. Robinson, Mrs. J. J. Gannon, Mrs. C. Edmund Kells, Mrs. James W. Hoarn, Mrs. Don A. Pardee, Mrs. James Dixon, Lacey, Mrs. W. H. D. Brooke, Mrs. Alice W. Calder, Mrs. Randall Dugue, Mrs. Edward Everett Soule, Mrs. William Ross, Mrs. W. Burton, Mrs. Phillip Werlein, Jr., Mrs. (Judge) Shelby."

The officers of the meeting were Israel Shaw, '10, chairman; Miss N. Bird, '10, secretary, and R. Clark, '10, Miss Blackington, '10, and Miss A. Perry, '10, executive committee. Many excellent arguments were presented on both sides, showing that the disputants had given the subject very careful study, and had profited thereby. The judges were Supt. Knapp, member from the faculty; Israel Shaw, member from the Senior class; Miss Dorothy Bird, member from the Junior class; Richard Fuller, member from the Sophomore class; David Buffum, member from the Freshman class. Interest in local politics, although election is only four weeks away, is largely confined to the midwinter picnic held by certain Democrats at Sherill Tolman's cottage Tuesday afternoon and evening. Twenty-eight were present, including five of the city committee. Some Democrats sidestepped the affair, believing it a "Tolman" affair, which it is certainly not their purpose to foster. The question of a mayoralty candidate was discussed, but the Twenty-Eight could seem to find nobody who could win the election. The circle who cared for the honor, County Attorney Howard is entitled to a nomination, but having been born prior to yesterday politely declines to serve as a candidate for the position. Be that as it may, the 28 guests all looked satisfied with life when they returned.

Obituary.

MRS. IDA ST. CLAIR.

The news of the sudden death of Mrs. Ida (Payson) St. Clair was received with surprise and heartfelt sorrow by a large circle of friends. Her demise was caused from apoplexy and she was ill but a few days. Death occurred Monday evening, Jan. 24, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles Taylor, in South Hope. She peacefully fell asleep to awaken in that new and more glorious life. She was the daughter of George F. and Emily (Hull) Payson of South Hope and her age was 53 years, 7 months and 1 day. Deceased was an estimable woman, a faithful daughter and a kind, devoted mother. She was ever untiring in her efforts for the welfare and comfort of others and the entire community is grieved by the great loss she has sustained.

Mrs. St. Clair was a much respected member of South Hope Grange, but she has finished her work there and passed out by the gateway of death. Besides a loving daughter and five grandchildren she is survived by father and mother, two sisters, Mrs. J. B. Duntun of Brattleboro, Vt. and Mrs. M. S. Crockett of Rockland, also three brothers, Oscar F. of Camden, Fred L. and Samson of South Hope. The funeral services took place from her late home Thursday, Jan. 27, Rev. J. D. Tillinghast, pastor of the Church of Immanuel, Rockland, officiating. She was surrounded by a large number of beautiful floral tributes, placed beside her by loving friends. Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved family, especially to the daughter, who has been so greatly bereft of her mother with whom she had always lived.

Rev. F. V. Norcross. In the death of Rev. F. V. Norcross, Newcastle has lost a great man. To be truly great a man's name need not be blazoned abroad. In the quiet walks of life are some of our greatest men and women, men and women who live all unknown to the noisy world, but yet live splendidly and add lustre to mankind. Such a man was Mr. Norcross. To be touched by his life was to be blessed, to look into his kindly eyes and noble face meant inspiration. A man who did his work quietly, but thoroughly, a man who loved his fellow men and his God.

It was my great privilege to be able to call him one of my friends. When I succeeded him in Union, where he had been pastor of the Congregational church 30 years, I constantly heard of the mighty influence for good which he left behind. And in that beautiful town in whose cemetery his remains await the resurrection of the just, many a tear will fall today as the blessed memories of his life will be recalled. But he was only waiting for the boatman, and he has come and taken him over the river, over the land of immortal youth. I wish to pay this public tribute to the man whom I learned to esteem and love.

The principle which moved him in his life work is surely well expressed in the poem by the American poet, Foss:

"Let me live in a house by the side of the road, where the race of men go by. The men that are good, and the men that are bad. As good and as bad as I."

"I would not sit in the corner's chair, Or hurl the cynic's ban; Let me live in a house by the side of the road And be a friend of man."

Surely Rev. F. V. Norcross was "a friend to man."

Rev. A. T. McWhorter, South Paris, Me. Feb. 3, 1910.

RESOLUTIONS. A special meeting of Pleasant Valley Grange, No. 274, was held at our hall, head of Middle street, Monday evening to plan to show our last respects to our late brother, Charles H. Tillson, who passed away at his home in Thomaston, Saturday night. Mr. Tillson was an unusual man in many respects, and will be greatly missed from the Grange where he was the gate-keeper-elect for this year. He was a man always willing and ready to help in any and all ways. Always cheerful, and looking upon the brightest and pleasantest side of things, he is one we cannot easily lose, for these qualities helped over many hard places making them pleasant and easier for everybody. Many kind thoughts were expressed at the special meeting, showing how all felt for

In Social Circles

Mrs. Elden Davis, who has been in Stonington for a week's visit, has returned home.

Harvey Freeman and bride were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Richardson at Glenview recently. They arrived at Rock Harbor visiting Mrs. Freeman's aunt, Mrs. Hobart Young.

Misses Menah Marshall and Margaret Maloney pleasantly entertained friends at 83 Summer street, Monday evening. Games, music, etc., were indulged in until called to the dining-room, where a dainty lunch, consisting of waffles, rarebit, saltines, hot chocolate, fancy cookies and candies were served. Those present were: Misses Menah Marshall, Ethel Elwell, Hattie Snowman, Blanche Buckle, Emily Waterman and Lida Elwell. The party broke up at a late hour after a pleasant evening with their charming hostesses.

The Syndicate dance at Syndicate hall, Glenview, Tuesday evening was "the largest yet." Each lady came armed with a present "not exceeding 10 cents" in value, and at intermission the gentlemen drew for the coveted souvenirs. It is conceded on all sides that Henry A. Howard got the capital prize when he opened an unsuspecting looking box and drew therefrom a demure looking hen, which had belied her sex by remaining in a dance hall two hours without cackling. What disposition Mr. Howard will make of his poultry nucleus is not made known but it might not be a wild hazard to guess that he would put her on a farm not many miles from his Crescent Beach cottage. Fred J. Simonton, Jr. also drew a prize which was much admired, especially by the men. The next evening on the Syndicate calendar will be a supper and dance one week from next Tuesday night, with the ladies in charge of the supper.

Mrs. M. W. Howard has received news from Portland to the effect that her sister, Mrs. C. W. Hathaway, who recently underwent an operation at the Maine General hospital, is making rapid strides toward recovery. It is expected that she will be able to come to her sister's home in about two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Pierce of Vinalhaven were in the city Thursday, on their way home after visit of several weeks in Massachusetts cities.

Frances Harrington is home from Bowdoin for a few days, having taken the mid-winter exams.

Miss Lucie F. Winslow is home from Concord, N. H. on a fortnight's visit. She is the guest of her brother at 57 Middle street.

Miss Florence Clark very pleasantly entertained a party of friends at her home Monday evening on the occasion of her 17th birthday. The guests were: Gladys Adams, Lillian Adams, Velma Johnson, Mertie Roberts, Margaret Libby, Nellie Keay, Sophronia Tolman, Alice Lawry, Esther Green, Harriette Vinal, Bessie Osgood, Susie Wilson, Alta Jones, Arthur Adams, Leo Lane, Alton Roberts, Lillian Burpee, George Grant, Vaughn Johnson, Edward Russell. Games were played and refreshments of ice cream, cake and candy served. The hostess received a gold bracelet as a birthday remembrance.

The annual coffee party and dance under the auspices of St. Bernard's parish took place Wednesday evening at the Catholic ladies' hall. For serving a fine supper was sufficient to attract many scores of hungry ones to the Knights of Columbus hall. The housekeepers there were Mrs. Mary Keefe, Mrs. P. Armstrong, Mrs. George W. Ames, Mrs. Dennis Cronin, Mrs. Martin Donlin and Mrs. John Thornton. Miss Minnie Coughlin had charge of the dining-room, with the following busy corps of waiters: Miss Kate Lynn, Mrs. E. W. McIntire, Miss Abbie McDonald, Miss Mary Costello, Miss Frances Hanrahan, Miss Elizabeth Donohue, Miss Mary Lannigan, Miss T. M. McLaughlin, Miss Kathleen Tobey, Miss Grace Early and Miss Vittoria Carlini. The fancy table was under the charge of Miss Elizabeth Kelly, Miss Belle Donohue, Miss Sarah Sansom, and Miss Annie McLaughlin. Ice cream was sold by Miss Kate Burns, Mrs. David Austin and Mrs. John O'Brien. Mrs. Thomas Usher and Miss Mildred Ryan had charge of the dancing. It was a large and merry gathering which assembled at Pillsbury hall for the dance. This feature was under the charge of Eugene Harrington, V. Chisholm and Thomas Keefe. T. M. McLaughlin was floor manager, with Angus McInnis, P. F. Ward and Thomas Anastasi as aids. Farnham's orchestra furnished music. The dance lasted until midnight, young and old participating in the festivities.

Mrs. George L. Sides and Miss Jennie Thordike entertained 18 guests at Mrs. Sides' home on Willow street Thursday evening. Whist and other games were played. Mrs. Henry DeRochmont won the "prize." Refreshments were served.

Fifty members of the Half-Hour Reading Club with guests enjoyed their annual banquet in the Y. M. C. A. rooms Wednesday evening. The tables were attractively set with a color scheme of white and green, and it being Candlemas Day, the decorations were candles in holders of glass and metal with green shades, and the place cards were in the form of little tapers, green and white. A delicious menu was presented, consisting of escalloped chicken and rice, with tomato sauce and rolls, pineapple sherbet and cake, bonbons and olives. Much credit is due to Mrs. Lucia Burpee as caterer and the committee in charge, Mrs. Arthur Orne, president of the club, Mrs. J. R. Flye, Mrs. C. I. Burrows, Mrs. C. H. Durr, Mrs. R. Anson Crie and Mrs. B. F. Judd. A social hour followed the banquet and a short entertainment—piano solo, by Mrs. George Smith and a little triologue called "Visiting the Little Mother," played with much spirit by Miss Harriet Abbott, Miss Marion Cobb and Mrs. A. T. Blackington. This is a most popular club, numbering this season over 60 members, and these annual social meetings are eagerly anticipated.

One of the most successful parties of the season, socially and financially, was held at Grand Army hall Tuesday under the auspices of Lady Knox Chapter, D. A. R. Much credit is due the various committees who had this in charge and all feel well repaid. The hand-painted scenic cards were given and decorated by Miss Ellen J. Cochran and made delightful souvenirs for the occasion. Following is a list of the prizes and those who won them: silk scarf, Mrs. E. S. Rose; bridge set, Mrs. W. G. Butman; silk work bag, Mrs. W. H. Armstrong; etching, "The First Music Lesson," Mrs. Llewellyn Mills; nurlor, Mrs. Lucy Burton; pierced brass candle-shade, Miss Kitty S. Coburn.

Miss Alice Erskine who has been on an extended visit with relatives in California, is now in Chicago, where she will make a month's stay with her brother Oscar before returning home.

MADAME LANGENDORFF COMING

One can hardly realize that this great artist who created the most enthusiasm of any artist at the last Maine Festival, is so soon to be in our city, and we are going to have the pleasure of hearing her sing no less than 15 different songs and arias. Truly this will be a climax to all other musical events held in our city this year, and those who did not have the pleasure of hearing Madame Langendorff at the last Festival, will have one of the greatest musical treats in store for them that they ever had the pleasure of listening to. Wherever Mr. Chapman goes, he always arouses great enthusiasm, not only by his personal magnetism, but by the fact that he always has great people with him, for he will not be satisfied with only the best.

He will introduce besides Mme. Langendorff, Miss Margaret Wilson, violinist, from New York formerly a girl from Brunswick, Maine, who has achieved great success in that city, and in all other cities where she has appeared. Miss Wilson is a player of the same rank as Maud Powell, and Mr. Chapman assures the public, that they can expect a great deal from this very gifted violinist.

The date is Thursday evening, March 10, and with such a combination, one can expect an evening of unspeakable pleasure. This great concert will be given under the auspices of our own Festival Chorus, and they will receive a percentage of cash and now being sold by the chorus members.

ONLY TWO MORE DAYS.

Have you seen them? The Cora Youngblood Corson sextette, who will complete their engagement at Dreamland on Saturday night. This sextette is composed of six real girls in music and song, rendering a performance of both popular and classic music in a first class manner. It is certainly an act you can't afford to miss and after you once see it, you come again. This act was changed Thursday, which makes the program much longer than the first part of the week. A casual visitor to the theatre, undoubtedly thinks the "show" business is all pleasure, and that the actors and actresses have no troubles. On Wednesday night the large audiences, after hearing the sextette and seeing the bright smiles of the girls, would have hardly believed that one of their number received a telegram before the first performance announcing the death of her mother in Indianapolis, Ind. This is but a sample of the troubles of acting life.

Miss Danner left Thursday morning for home. Another big double show for all next week at Dreamland. From five to seven big vaudeville acts, everyone a headliner. The Barbeau family, 10 people, presenting music, dancing, singing and comedy with plenty of life and a lot of fun, engaged at a great expense. The band will play in front of Dreamland every day before the performances.

SOCIALIST MEETING.

Members of the Socialist Party of Rockland are requested to attend the meeting Monday night at 7.30. Business of the utmost importance will be acted on including election of officers and nomination for National Committee. Be sure and attend this meeting; those who do not attend cannot kick afterwards. A good time to pay up your dues, if you are in arrears. We need the money now, not later, but now. The campaign is right upon us and we cannot shrink. Once more come forward and attend this meeting.

IN SPORTING CIRCLES

The much talked-of ice polo game between Rockland and the "Keag team" took place at South Thomaston Tuesday afternoon, resulting in a victory for the city lads, after a hard-fought contest. The score was 3 to 2. The team lined up as follows:

Rockland: Ir. Witham, Cates, Richardson, Jackson, Simmons, Lounaine, German, Rockland's goal was made by Richardson, Cates and Flint, and South Thomaston's by Gilchrist and Witham. The home team had manifested extreme confidence in its ability to win and the result was a shock from which it has not fully recovered. Now what's the matter with a return game on Prescott's before "Ottie" and "Dugan" get this one talked threadbare.

ALAS! POOR ANASTASI.

His Bowling Trio Sustains Another Crushing Defeat from the Veterans.

The Anastasi trio's triumph over the Thomas trio was very short-lived. A Whitney's alley Monday night Tommy's bunch was swamped under a defeat of 103 pins. Thomas of the victorious team lodged one of the honors with the highest 10-strike total, as well as the largest single string. Anastasi was high man for the losers. The score:

FISHING THROUGH ICE.

The ice fishing season in this state opened Tuesday at daybreak and continues until the ice leaves the different inland bodies of water. During this interim, residents of the state are allowed to take certain quantities of trout, landlocked salmon and togue. Other varieties of fish are not allowed to be taken through the ice. The law regarding ice fishing in this state is as follows:

During February, March and April citizens of the state may fish for and take landlocked salmon, trout and togue, with not more than five set lines for each family, when fishing through the ice in the daytime, fish thus caught to be used only for consumption at home. Catches limited to 20 pounds, or one fish, of landlocked salmon or trout, or 25 pounds, or one fish, of togue, in any one day. Any private or special catch prohibiting or restricting fishing are not repealed or altered by this fact.

AMATEURS AT OPERA HOUSE.

This Friday night will be given over to the amateur contest, and all who enjoy a good amateur show should be sure and be at Farwell opera house, and be there early. Doors open at 6.50 sharp and the early comers are sure of good seats. In the regular vaudeville line there will be the Bowdens, a great team of colored comedians who can sing and dance. Still another great act is the Great Grieger, the comedy magician who has everyone guessing how he does many different things he does can be done and is sure to be a big drawing card today Friday. There will also be a great line of all new pictures. This Saturday there will be four big shows, two in the afternoon and two at night as usual. Everyone should be sure and see this great vaudeville bill today. Next week still another great program. Note: All amateurs will please leave their names at box office early tonight to avoid waiting.

CAPT. MEADER'S PERIL.

Crew of Shipwrecked Sch. George A. McFadden Had Hard Time.

Capt. Meader and crew of the abandoned schooner George A. McFadden, lost on Diamond Shoals, arrived at New York, Jan. 30 on the steamer City of Atlanta. The story of the wreck and rescue of the men by the steamer Katherine has been already reported.

The crew reported that when the masts broke the men sought refuge in the rigging. By 7 o'clock the schooner broke in half and the men had to climb to the top of the deckhouse. Capt. Meader came near being killed by a swinging backstay, but Mate McCrea threw him aside just in time. To the rings on the deckhouse the men lashed themselves with a piece of line. Once Adams, the engineer of the donkey engine, was washed off, but another sea carried him back and the captain grabbed him. The sea brought an unexpected benefit, for it washed alongside a bucket containing a tarp and some pickles. The turnip was divided into nine parts. The schooner was bound from Jacksonville for New Bedford with lumber.

CAPT. CROWLEY WINS.

The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals has reversed the decree of $243 in favor of Alexander Ross and others, owners of the schooner Helen W. Martin, and of $350 in favor of John G. Crowley and others, owners of the schooner Van Allen's Boughton, against S. D. Warren & Co. for demurrage in unloading the vessels of coal at Portland during the big coal strike in 1903. The vessels had been chartered by S. D. Warren & Co. The court holds that under maritime usage the Grand Trunk Railway Company had a right to give precedence to liners or steamers.
